

Recent years, ethnic minorities in china enjoy equal rights in all areas.

Firstly, millions of people were lifted out of poverty. From 2017 to 2018, the number of people living in poverty in ethnic minority areas dropped from 11.42 million to 6.19 million.

Secondly, the Chinese government is committed to properly handling the relationship between anti-terrorism and the protection of the rights of ethnic minorities.

Thirdly, the equal rights of the migration of ethnic minorities have been fully protected. Recently, local governments have made efforts to ensure that they are treated as well as local residents.