Consideration of UPR reports

ANTIGUA AND BARBUDA

Madam President,

Amnesty International welcomes that there have been no executions in Antigua and Barbuda in the last 11 years, and further welcomes the government's commitment to rigorously apply international standards for fair trial in all death penalty cases.¹ However, we are disappointed that Antigua and Barbuda rejected recommendations from six States to abolish the death penalty.² We reject the government's justification that it does not have a political mandate to abolish the death penalty.³ We believe that public opinion on capital punishment is overwhelmingly based on a desire to be protected from violence and to be free from fear of crime. A more effective strategy to address public safety would involve improving the capacity of the police to detect and solve crimes, enhancing the criminal justice system, and tackling the root causes of crime and violence more effectively. We recall that the death penalty violates the right to life as recognized in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights. We urge Antigua and Barbuda to impose a formal moratorium on the use of the death penalty with a view to abolishing it; to commute all death sentences to terms of imprisonment; to ratify the Second Optional Protocol to the ICCPR; and to vote in support of the next General Assembly resolution on a moratorium on the use of the death penalty.

Madam President,

We welcome Antigua and Barbuda's commitment to condemn human rights violations against persons because of their sexual orientation⁴ and to institute policies and initiatives to address discrimination based on sexual orientation or gender identity.⁵ However, we emphasize that the removal of discriminatory laws is a first step in fighting the stigma
