HUMAN RIGHTS COUNCIL
Working Group on the Universal Periodic Review
Seventh session
Geneva, 8-19 February 2010

COMPILATION PREPARED BY THE OFFICE OF THE HIGH COMMISSIONER FOR HUMAN RIGHTS, IN ACCORDANCE WITH PARAGRAPH 15(B) OF THE ANNEX
TO HUMAN RIGHTS COUNCIL RESOLUTION 5/1

Nicaragua

The present report is a compilation of the information contained in the reports of treaty bodies, special procedures, including observations and comments by the State concerned, and other relevant official United Nations documents. It does not contain any opinions, views or suggestions on the part of the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights (OHCHR), other than those contained in public reports issued by OHCHR. It follows the structure of the general guidelines adopted by the Human Rights Council. Information included herein has been systematically referenced in endnotes. The report has been prepared taking into consideration the four-year periodicity of the first cycle of the review. In the absence of recent information, the latest available reports and documents have been taken into consideration, unless they are outdated. Since this report only compiles information contained in official United Nations documents, lack of information or focus on specific issues may be due to non-ratification of a treaty and/or to a low level of interaction or cooperation with international human rights mechanisms.

B. Constitutional and legislative framework

2. In 2008, the Committee on the Elimination of Racial Discrimination (CERD) noted that ICERD has the status of ordinary law in Nicaragua and recommended considering the possibility of including ICERD in the list of international treaties contained in Article 46 of the Constitution.<sup>10</sup>

3. In 2008, the Committee on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights (CESCR) welcomed Act No. 475 on citizen participation and Act No. 655 on the protection of refugees.<sup>11</sup> The Human Rights

Committee (HR Committee)<sup>12</sup> and the United Nations Country Team (UNCT)<sup>13</sup> highlighted the adoption in 2008 of the Equal Rights and Opportunities Act promoting equality between men and women. The Special Rapporteur on the right to food<sup>14</sup> and UNCT<sup>15</sup> stressed the importance of the 2009 Law on food and nutrition sovereignty and security. Según el UNCT, la aprobación de leyes como las mencionadas, así como la ratificación de instrumentos internacionales como el OP-CAT, han mejorado sustantivamente el marco jurídico de reconocimiento y protección de los derechos humanos.<sup>16</sup>

C. Institutional and human rights infrastructure

4. In 2008, CESCR,<sup>17</sup> the HR Committee<sup>18</sup> and UNCT<sup>19</sup> noted the approval in 1995 of Act No. 212, on the office of the human rights ombudsman and, in 1999, the appointment of the first ombudsman. In 2006, the Procuraduría para la Defensa de los Derechos Humanos was accredited with "A status" by the International Coordinating Committee of National Institutions for the Promotion and Protection of Human Rights.<sup>20</sup>

5. In 2008, CERD recommended that Nicaragua ensure that the National Commission for the Elimination of Racial Discrimination be officially recognized as the body responsible for developing and implementing a State policy to combat racism, assigning to it the financial and technical resources required for it to function properly.<sup>21</sup>

6. In 2008, the HR Committee welcomed the introduction of special procurators for children and adolescents; women; indigenous peoples and ethnic communities; persons with disabilities; persons deprived of their liberty; and for civic participation.<sup>22</sup>

7. El UNCT indicó que en el año 2008, el Gobierno creó el Sistema Educativo Autonómico Regional (SEAR), previsto en la Ley de 2006 que reconoce el derecho de los pueblos indígenas y comunidades étnicas de la Costa Caribe a la educación intercultural en su lengua, y la creación de la Oficina del Coordinador Especial de la Procuraduría para la Defensa de los Derechos de los Pueblos Indígenas y Comunidades Étnicas. Estos son indudables avances institucionales que merecen ser destacados.<sup>23</sup>

D. Policy measures

8. In 2009, CAT noted with appreciation the National Plan of Action for the Prevention of Domestic and Sexual Violence.<sup>24</sup>

9. In 2008, CESCR<sup>25</sup> and UNCT<sup>26</sup> noted the “Zero Hunger, Zero Usury, Food Sovereignty and Security for Life” programmes; the “Yes I Can – Free from Illiteracy” programme, and the implementation of the Human Development Plan 2009-2012. El UNCT indicó que desde el 2007, el Gobierno implementa el Programa para Combatir la Pobreza y Alcanzar la Seguridad y la Soberanía Alimentaria y Nutricional, denominado “Hambre Cero”, que da prioridad a las familias rurales pobres y los sectores marginales urbanos, entregando un bono productivo que debe ser administrado por las mujeres.<sup>27</sup>

10. In 2008, CEDAW regretted the lack of information about results achieved in the implementation of the first part of the National Education Plan 2001-2015, and recommended strengthening monitoring of progress.<sup>28</sup> In 2005, Nicaragua adopted the Plan of Action (2005-2009) for the World Programme for Human Rights Education focusing on the national school system.<sup>29</sup>

B. Cooperation with the Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights

11. At the end of 2007, with the support of the Action 2 Global Programme, OHCHR deployed a human rights adviser (HRA) to UNCT.<sup>38</sup> The work of the HRA allowed the Government to complete most overdue reports to the treaty bodies. Following advocacy and awareness-raising by the HRA, Nicaragua ratified OP-CAT and ICCPR-OP 2, and formally announced its intention to ratify CRPD-OP. As a result of the HRA's work to integrate a human rights-based approach into the work of UNCT, United Nations agencies have strengthened the human rights perspective in their programming. For example, the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP)-Nicaragua is starting a project on prison conditions, and work relating to the Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples will be included in UNDP-Nicaragua's subregional programme.<sup>39</sup>
12. Nicaragua is a regular donor to OHCHR activities.<sup>40</sup>

C. Implementation of international human rights obligations

1. Equality and non-discrimination

13. In 2007, CEDAW was concerned about the long delay in enacting a comprehensive legal framework to eliminate discrimination against women and urged Nicaragua to bring national legislation into line with CEDAW.<sup>41</sup> In 2008, CESCR was concerned at the continuing discrimination against women in the political, social and economic spheres, and recommended, alongside the HR Committee, that Nicaragua should meet the targets set in the Equal Rights and Opportunities Act.<sup>42</sup>
14. In 2008, CERD was also concerned at the double discrimination against women belonging to the indigenous peoples and communities of African descent.<sup>43</sup> CEDAW encouraged Nicaragua to accelerate the improvement of their conditions in all spheres of life.<sup>44</sup>
15. CERD was concerned that the new Criminal Code does not provide for sanctions against organizations that promote racial discrimination and urged Nicaragua to characterize as criminal every act that promotes and incites racial discrimination.<sup>45</sup>
16. CERD recommended the adoption of appropriate measures to combat racial prejudice in both the public and private media channels and to ensure the effective implementation of the Autonomy Statute.<sup>46</sup>
17. El UNCT indicó que el nuevo Código Penal que entró en vigencia a mediados de 2008 eliminó el delito de sodomía. Una resolución del Ministerio de Salud de agosto 2009 prohíbe al personal de salud discriminar a una persona por su orientación sexual.<sup>47</sup>
18. El UNCT indicó que se estima que alrededor de un 10 por ciento de la población vive con alguna discapacidad que incluye muchas por causas relacionadas con el conflicto armado. En el año 2003, la tasa de analfabetismo en la población con discapacidad era el doble del promedio nacional.<sup>48</sup> In 2005, CRC encouraged Nicaragua to ensure that policies and practices in relation to children with disabilities take due regard of the Standard Rules on the Equalization of Opportunities for Persons with Disabilities.<sup>49</sup>

2. Right to life, liberty and security of the person

19. In 2009, CAT was concerned about the increased number of murders of women over the past few years as part of a wider problem of gender violence, particularly domestic and sexual violence.<sup>50</sup> In 2008, the HR Committee was also concerned at the increase in killings of women and that attackers appear to go unpunished.<sup>51</sup> El UNCT indicó que en lo que va del año 2009, 45 mujeres han muerto por violencia familiar y delitos comunes.<sup>52</sup> CESCR and the HR Committee urged Nicaragua to take immediate steps to put a halt to killings of women and in particular conduct investigations and punish attackers.<sup>53</sup> CAT called for the full implementation of legislation on violence against women and recommended that ongoing training be organized for police officers.<sup>54</sup> CESCR and the HR Committee urged Nicaragua to allow the victims of gender violence effective access to justice, provide police protection, and set up shelters for victims.<sup>55</sup>

20. CAT recommended the adoption of a definition of torture which covers all the elements of torture fully in line with article 1 of the Convention.<sup>56</sup> It also recommended amending the Military Criminal Code to include the offence of torture.<sup>57</sup> UNCT raised similar concerns. El UNCT añadió que queda pendiente la realización de cambios administrativos y judiciales que permitan contar con registros claros e investigaciones inmediatas en casos de denuncias de malos tratos, especialmente en los destacamentos policiales, para combatir la impunidad en estos casos.<sup>58</sup>

21. CAT was deeply concerned by the general prohibition of abortion in the Criminal Code, even in cases of rape, incest or apparently life-threatening pregnancies that in many cases are the direct result of crimes of gender violence.<sup>59</sup> CAT<sup>60</sup> and UNCT<sup>61</sup> urged Nicaragua to review its legislation on abortion, as previously recommended by CEDAW, the HR Committee and CESCR, and to consider the possibility of providing for exceptions to the general prohibition of abortion in cases of therapeutic abortion, and pregnancy resulting from rape or incest.<sup>62</sup> The HR Committee and CAT recommended that Nicaragua avoid penalizing medical professionals in the conduct of their professional duties.<sup>63</sup>

22. The HR Committee was concerned that detainees continue to suffer ill-treatment at the hands of law enforcement personnel, especially in prisons, and recommended immediate and effective steps to end such abuse.<sup>64</sup> CAT recommended, inter alia, strengthening special training in the detection of signs of torture and ill-treatment.<sup>65</sup>

23. In 2008, the Working Group on Enforced or Involuntary Disappearances<sup>66</sup> noted that 103 cases remained outstanding in Nicaragua.

24. CAT was concerned about ill-treatment of children and urged the intensification of efforts to deal with this issue and to strengthen mechanisms for combating all forms of violence.<sup>67</sup> In 2005, CRC made a similar recommendation.<sup>68</sup>

25. CRC expressed concern that the legislation prohibiting all forms of violence against children, including corporal punishment, does not seem to be interpreted as prohibiting all forms of corporal punishment and that the latter is still widely accepted in society.<sup>69</sup> El UNCT indicó que el Acuerdo Ministerial 134/2009 del Ministerio de Educación prohíbe maltrato, abuso o castigo físico moral o psicológico a la niñez en los centros escolares.<sup>70</sup> CRC recommended the explicit prohibition of all forms of corporal punishment of children and that awareness-raising and public education campaigns against corporal punishment be conducted.<sup>71</sup> The HR Committee made a similar recommendation.<sup>72</sup>

26. The HR Committee was concerned about alleged instances of wrongful arrests in connection with public protests and recommended that Nicaragua protect the lives and safety of all individuals and consider reforming the Code of Criminal Procedure, which allows the police to detain people without a warrant.<sup>73</sup>

27. CAT<sup>74</sup> and the HR Committee<sup>75</sup> were concerned at the serious problem of overcrowding and other unsatisfactory detention conditions. CAT recommended Nicaragua to, inter alia, strengthen independent procedures for prison inspection.<sup>76</sup> El UNCT indicó que los centros de detención en términos generales presentan una grave situación de hacinamiento, infraestructura inapropiada, y limitaciones en el acceso a la salud física y mental y la alimentación.<sup>77</sup>

28. Although CESCR noted that trafficking in persons is defined as a criminal offence in the new Criminal Code, it regretted the existence of trafficking of women and children for the purpose of sexual exploitation.<sup>78</sup> The HR Committee recommended making trafficking in and the sexual exploitation of women and children a criminal offence.<sup>79</sup> CESCR, the HR Committee and CEDAW recommended that Nicaragua combat trafficking in women and children<sup>80</sup> and step up prosecutions and adequate punishment of offenders.

29. CRC was concerned at the growing number of street children, especially in Managua, and recommended that Nicaragua provide street children with recovery, adequate nutrition, housing, necessary health care and educational opportunities.<sup>81</sup>

3. Administration of justice, including impunity, and the rule of law

30. In 2006, the Working Group on Arbitrary Detention noted that the Code of Criminal Procedure had replaced the former inquisitorial approach with an adversarial system which had made it possible to shorten processing times and to reduce the number of detainees held in pretrial custody.<sup>82</sup>

31. The Working Group noted the growing failure to comply with the time limits stipulated in the Criminal Procedural Law. It also noted the special category of detainees forgotten by the justice system and who have no contact with the outside world and no possibility of availing themselves of the remedies to which they are entitled. They call themselves “los Donados” (“the donated ones”), those who have been effectively dumped as “gifts” to the prison system.<sup>83</sup> CAT recommended the adoption of measures to guarantee the right to any person deprived of liberty to be defended, and that priority attention be given to the donados.<sup>84</sup>

32. In 2009, CAT shared the concern of the Working Group on Arbitrary Detention regarding the lack of effective, clear and systematic registers in police stations, and recommended substantial improvements in this regard.<sup>85</sup>

33. CAT was concerned about the lack of impartiality and independence in the judicial system, in particular about alleged irregularities in the appointment of judges, corruption, and delays in the administration of justice. It recommended that Nicaragua guarantee the full independence of the judiciary and combat corruption.<sup>86</sup>

34. CAT recommended that Nicaragua establish that detentions must conform to fair trial standards, ensure that time limits for preventive detention are respected, and act in a manner that allows justice to be administered within a reasonable period of time.<sup>87</sup>

35. El UNCT indicó que el acceso a la justicia sigue siendo un tema pendiente para la mayoría de las mujeres nicaragüense, en particular para aquellas que viven o han vivido violencia o han sido víctimas de trata.<sup>88</sup>

36. CAT recommended that minors should be separated from adults<sup>89</sup> and that the juvenile justice system be fully brought into line with CAT and other United Nations standards relating to juvenile justice.<sup>90</sup> CRC recommended the establishment of specialized family courts and that family law procedures be conducted without undue delay.<sup>91</sup> CAT recommended that Nicaragua ensure that women and men are held in separate facilities.<sup>92</sup>

37. CAT recommended that Nicaragua ensure the immediate and impartial investigation of any complaints of torture or other cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment, and that the necessary investigations and sanctions to prevent and combat impunity be guaranteed.<sup>93</sup>

38. CAT recommended that redress, compensation and rehabilitation be guaranteed to all victims of torture, both in law and in practice.<sup>94</sup>

39. El UNCT indicó que la adecuada relación entre el sistema de justicia estatal y el de los pueblos indígenas y afrodescendientes debe evitar cualquier tipo de distorsión del rol de la estructura comunal, específicamente en cuanto a las funciones del Wihta o juez tradicional y del síndico comunitario, destacándose que el actual Código Penal contempla fallos de los Wihta en caso de faltas.<sup>95</sup>

40. The Working Group on Arbitrary Detention noted the severity of criminal penalties handed down for offences relating to the use and sale of narcotics which appeared disproportionate to the crime. It noted the unreasonable fine for such offences that could be converted to an additional year of imprisonment in case of non-payment.<sup>96</sup>

4. Right to marriage

41. In 2005, CRC reiterated its recommendation that Nicaragua rapidly adopt and implement the new draft civil code to increase the minimum age for marriage and set it at the same age for boys and girls.<sup>97</sup>

5. Freedom of expression, association and peaceful assembly, and the right to participate in public and political life

42. CAT and the HR Committee recommended that Nicaragua combat alleged cases of systematic harassment, persecution and death threats directed at human rights defenders in general and female defenders of women's rights in particular; ensure that those responsible are duly punished; and guarantee these organizations the right to freedom of expression and association.<sup>98</sup> CAT also recommended that members of the political opposition, their sympathizers and representatives of NGOs be provided with adequate protection in connection with peaceful demonstrations.<sup>99</sup>

43. CERD recommended that Nicaragua ensure the full participation of indigenous peoples and communities of African descent in public affairs at all levels.<sup>100</sup>

44. In 2007, CEDAW called upon Nicaragua to accelerate the process of increasing women's full and equal participation in public life, including through the use of temporary special measures and awareness-raising campaigns.<sup>101</sup> A 2009 United Nations Statistics Division source indicated that the proportion of seats held by women in the national parliament decreased from 20.7 per cent in 2006 to 18.5 per cent in 2009.<sup>102</sup>

6. Right to work and to just and favourable conditions of work

45. In 2008, the ILO Committee of Experts on the Application of Conventions and Recommendations requested Nicaragua to amend the Trade Union Act so as to secure the right of workers to establish and join organizations of their own choosing at all levels outside the existing trade union structure.<sup>103</sup>

46. In 2008, CESCR recommended that Nicaragua, inter alia, increase funding for, and ensure regularization of the unstructured labour market; amend its labour legislation to combat contractual insecurity;<sup>104</sup> guarantee the rights of workers in the maquila industry; and effectively prevent and punish the exploitation and abuse of workers.<sup>105</sup>

47. The Special Rapporteur on the right to food noted that in accordance with the 2008 law, the minimum wage should be raised gradually and revised on a regular basis to reflect the evolution of the price index for basic commodities.<sup>106</sup> He indicated that he will follow the adoption of a labour law on subcontracting<sup>107</sup> and the decisions of the national tripartite council established to encourage dialogue between Government, employers and workers' unions.

48. The HR Committee recommended the intensification of efforts to combat discrimination against women in employment.<sup>108</sup> CESCR encouraged Nicaragua to ensure equal remuneration for work of equal value.<sup>109</sup> CEDAW called upon Nicaragua to: increase women's opportunity to transition from informal to formal sector employment; fully enforce existing labour legislation; prevent and punish violations of the rights of women working in the maquiladora industries; address the lack of adherence to safety and health standards in those industries; and enhance women workers' access to justice and legal assistance.<sup>110</sup>

49. CRC was concerned at the increase in child labour in Nicaragua and recommended all feasible measures be taken for its eradication.<sup>111</sup>

7. Right to social security and to an adequate standard of living

50. CESCR urged Nicaragua to expand social security coverage for all workers; ensure the application of minimum compulsory contributions to obtain social security benefits and to include unemployment insurance in the new social security scheme.<sup>112</sup> CESCR also encouraged the adoption of a welfare programme for elderly persons.<sup>113</sup> El UNCT indicó que en Nicaragua hay más de medio millón de personas mayores de 55 años y de ellos, menos del 10 por ciento es cubierto por un Seguro Social.<sup>114</sup>

51. The Special Rapporteur on the right to food encouraged the promotion and institutionalization of Nicaragua's policies under the framework of the 2009 Law on food and nutrition sovereignty and security.<sup>115</sup> CESCR recommended that Nicaragua guarantee the effective implementation and sustainability of the "Zero Hunger" programme,<sup>116</sup> as also encouraged by the Special Rapporteur.<sup>117</sup>

52. The Special Rapporteur on the right to food<sup>118</sup> welcomed the strengthening of the storage capacities of Empresa Nicaraguense de Alimentos Básicos. He noted that the poverty-reducing impacts of the distribution of basic grains at subsidized prices would be significantly improved if a voucher system was put in place, prioritizing access of the poorest households to such benefits. CESCR urged Nicaragua to review its overall strategy for the eradication of poverty and to step up efforts to combat poverty<sup>119</sup> and inequality.<sup>120</sup>

53. CESCR requested the allocation of sufficient resources to the implementation of programmes aimed at granting security of tenure and accessible dwellings; improving the supply of water and sanitation services;<sup>121</sup> solving the problem of homelessness; and providing access to credit and housing subsidies for low-income families, marginalized and disadvantaged groups.<sup>122</sup>

54. CEDAW urged Nicaragua to enhance women's access to health care.<sup>123</sup> CESCR strongly encouraged the reduction of maternal and infant mortality and recommended the adoption of a law on sexual and reproductive health compatible with the provisions of ICESCR,<sup>124</sup> as well as the adoption of a global health policy.<sup>125</sup> CRC recommended that basic health care and services be accessible to all children. It called on Nicaragua to urgently address the problem of malnutrition and the grievous issue of infant, child and maternal mortality.<sup>126</sup> CERD urged combating maternal mortality in the Atlantic autonomous regions, where it continues to be much higher than the national average.<sup>127</sup>

55. CRC recommended that Nicaragua increase efforts to prevent the spread of HIV/AIDS.<sup>128</sup> El UNCT mencionó que la tasa de incidencia incrementó del 7,7 por ciento en 2005 al 13,3 por ciento en 2008.<sup>129</sup>

8. Right to education and to participate in the cultural life of the community

56. El UNCT mencionó que Nicaragua cuenta con una nueva Ley General de Educación, aprobada en 2007, y políticas educativas.<sup>130</sup> Indicó que la tasa de analfabetismo disminuyó del 20 por ciento en 2005 a menos del 5 por ciento en 2009 como consecuencia de la campaña de alfabetización.<sup>131</sup>

57. CEDAW recommended that Nicaragua ensure equal access for girls and young women to all levels of education, to retain girls in school and to improve the literacy level of girls and women.<sup>132</sup> CRC recommended, inter alia, the elimination of the discrepancy in access to education between urban and rural areas and the allocation of more resources to education in the national budget.<sup>133</sup>

58. CESCR and the HR Committee recommended effective guarantees for the right to education of indigenous peoples.<sup>134</sup> CERD<sup>135</sup> and CESCR<sup>136</sup> encouraged the reduction of illiteracy, especially in the North Atlantic Autonomous Region. CEDAW called upon Nicaragua to ensure that indigenous women and women of African descent have full access to appropriate education.<sup>137</sup>

9. Minorities and indigenous peoples

59. In 2008, CERD urged Nicaragua to accelerate the process of adoption of the act relating to the indigenous peoples of the Pacific, central and northern regions of Nicaragua, and the appointment of a special procurator for them.<sup>138</sup>

60. CESCR<sup>139</sup> and the HR Committee<sup>140</sup> recommended that consultations be conducted with indigenous peoples before granting concessions for the economic exploitation of the lands where they live. CERD, CESCR and the HR Committee urged Nicaragua to proceed immediately with the delimiting, demarcating and granting of land to the Awas Tingni community.<sup>141</sup> CESCR and the HR Committee recommended the prevention and halt to unlawful activities by third parties in the lands of the Awas Tingni community. It also called for investigations and sanctions for those responsible for unlawful activities.<sup>142</sup>

61. In 2009, the Special Rapporteur on the situation of human rights and fundamental freedoms of indigenous peoples stated that he will continue to monitor progress towards ensuring that the rights of Awas Tingni to their lands are fully respected by third parties.<sup>143</sup>

62. In 2005, the Special Rapporteur on the situation of human rights and fundamental freedoms of indigenous peoples,<sup>144</sup> together with the Special Rapporteur on contemporary forms of racism, racial discrimination, xenophobia and related intolerance, sent an urgent appeal concerning the plight of the Mayangna indigenous community of Awas Tingni, on the Atlantic coast of Nicaragua. According to the information received, the failure to demarcate or grant title to the community lands in compliance with the judgement of 31 August 2001 of the Inter-American Court of Human Rights, had led to violations of their property rights. It had also threatened the cultural integrity and physical survival of the Awas Tingni community.

63. El UNCT indicó que desde 2007, se impulsó el cumplimiento de la Ley 445 sobre titulación de territorios indígenas y afrodescendientes en la Costa Caribe.<sup>145</sup>

64. CERD recommended that Nicaragua guarantee the right of indigenous peoples to use their languages in judicial proceedings, as provided for in the Act on Official Use of the Languages of the Communities of the Caribbean Coast, and - where necessary - interpreters.<sup>146</sup>

65. The HR Committee recommended reforms to the Elections Act to ensure that indigenous and ethnic communities in the autonomous regions can take effective part in elections with due regard for their traditions, conventions and customs.<sup>147</sup>

66. The HR Committee recommended that Nicaragua, inter alia, guarantee access by all indigenous peoples to adequate health services.<sup>148</sup> CERD urged Nicaragua to provide indigenous peoples and communities of African descent with financial and institutional support for the practice of, and access to, traditional indigenous medicine.<sup>149</sup> El UNCT indicó que existen barreras de acceso de las mujeres indígenas y afrodescendientes debido al monolingüismo, a enfoques de salud de la cultura predominante y ciertos prejuicios en el personal que presta servicios de salud.<sup>150</sup>

10. Migrants, refugees and asylum-seekers

67. El UNCT mencionó que el número de migrantes extra-regionales, mezclados con flujos de migrantes económicos irregulares, que son interceptados en la Costa Caribe de Nicaragua, ha aumentado considerablemente en 2009. Existen reportes preocupantes de agresiones contra estas personas que en general están indocumentados y sin una red de apoyo. Pese al esfuerzo de las autoridades por dar un trato humano, su retención se produce en condiciones de hacinamiento y falta de higiene.<sup>151</sup>

III. ACHIEVEMENTS, BEST PRACTICES, CHALLENGES AND CONSTRAINTS

68. El UNCT indicó que en términos generales puede decirse que se hace un notable esfuerzo por universalizar la cobertura de algunos servicios sociales como es el caso de salud y educación.<sup>152</sup>
