Føroya Pro Vita

Founded in 1992, Føroya Pro Vita is the only pro-life organization on the Faroe Islands specifically providing up-to-date information about foetal development, health care, methods and consequences of abortion, including post-abortion trauma and other related issues. The organizations works from a variety of perspectives and via various mediums: dialogue, discussion, literature, conferences, internet, presentations, and exhibitions at public events. Føroya Pro Vita also offers the possibility of advice and support for women facing a crisis pregnancy. At the moment, the organization employs one person part-time, otherwise all work in voluntary.

Since 2010, the organization has actively supported the development of Rachel's Vineyard Føroyar. Rachel's Vineyard is an organization which provides information about post-abortion trauma and organizes weekends offering healing to women and men suffering from abortion. Founded in 1984, Rachel's Vineyard is now established in over 70 countries and available in 22 languages.

Føroya Pro Vita also provides information regarding human rights in relation to the issue of abortion, for example: the right to life, security of person, freedom of information, freedom of conscience, as well as the provision of basic rights such as properly monitored health care, education, clean water, sanitation, transport, shelter and nourishment.
